We have been shown an old Virginia six-dollar note, issued in 1770, and by the Commonwealth in paying off her soldiers. It reads: "Six Spanish milled dollars or their value in gold or silver, to be given in exchange for this bill, at the Treasury, on presentation, pursuant to Act of Assembly, passed Oct. 7, 1770."

See temperate.

New York buckwheat flour, at F. E. CASE & CO'S, 6 cents.

COTTON MARKET.—In the early part of the week the market opened firm and active, with a good demand, the receipts averaging forty bales per day, which sold readily at 1 cent advance over previous prices. Yesterday the price declined 1 cent, closing at 10 1/2 for good ordinary; 10 1/4 for low middling; and 11 1/2 for the middling.

We have a nice line of ladies' cloaks and shawls, belted, and styled, and would have much to show you, which we will sell very low. Call and examine. J. AMBERG'S SONS.

The corn market still continues at last quotation. Although prices have declined, but in St. Louis and New Orleans, choice white corn is in demand at interior prices at 30 cents per bushel, delivered. We again have the farmers in regard to rotten corn, which will be rejected upon arrival at the market.

OUR CLOAKS AND DOLMANS just arrived, and being rather late we offer them much below their real value. Call and examine. J. H. PLAUT & BRO.

Two says that the failure of the stars to fall on the 13th and 14th, cannot be accounted for by any known astronomical or meteorological causes. Well, if we knew the old fellow set up himself the two nights in succession, as we did, he might be forgiven. But, next time the old ass must have his barometer, hygrometer, anemometer, or whatever he reads these things by, gauged a little more accurately.

Next Thursday is Thanksgiving day. Indeed, and in truth, the entire country, and this community in particular, have much to be thankful for. The blessings of peace, abundant harvests, business prosperity, and a year, not only free from epidemics and scourges, but blessed with the general prevalence of good health. In sincere gratitude, our churches should be open on that day, and each and every citizen arrive in earnestness of thanks for our manifold blessings.

Complaint is made, and perhaps very justly, that but and no one is doing in the business of the State, by colored men and some white ones, very greatly to the disadvantage of business people, and to the detriment of the State, and especially those of our business men who have such great fault in not reporting such cases, and the proper authorities, when such things occur under their own knowledge should make arrests, but our cause is not without information. A few whole some lines would stop all this, and good citizens ought to make the officers by giving evidence whenever they hear such.

ARREST OF AN ALLEGED ROBBERS.—The following is the report of the Sheriff of the State of Missouri, in regard to the arrest of a man, by the name of Alexander alias Moore, implicated in various crimes such as horse stealing, robbery and murder. He is also implicated in the Missouri robbery. Information is obtained that the State of Missouri has offered a reward for his apprehension, and also some private rewards. It was confirmed in jail. Well, and the officers and probably, claim him until a regular case from the Governor of Missouri is received. He is suspected of being connected with a band of horse thieves which has been operating in this section for some time, but what evidence exists as to this latter charge we are not advised.

In the good old days, when men were allowed to hold commissions direct from the State, and when the State was divided into the smallest of counties, it was customary for a President, setting forth upon his travels, to send before him heralds, who should announce his coming, and for his heralds to prepare for his reception and entertainment. And, doubtless, it is an imitation of this venerable and ancient custom, that the State of Missouri, in its heralds, is sending forth its heralds, to announce the coming of the President, and to prepare for his reception and entertainment.

LATEST TELEPHONE STORY.—A young graduate, who has only just been promoted to the honor of being a telephone operator, is reported to have been called upon to operate the line between the city of St. Louis and the city of St. Louis. He was called upon to operate the line between the city of St. Louis and the city of St. Louis. He was called upon to operate the line between the city of St. Louis and the city of St. Louis.

Consensus meets the 1st Monday in December. Politics will then loom up.
Two dollars seems to be the average price paid for Republican votes in Maine.

JUDGE BIGGER will be the next Speaker of the Kentucky House of Representatives. All the signs point that way.

The Southern papers now generally assert that the battle of New Orleans is a failure—the channel filled up as fast as the machines cut it.

As a candidate for emperor for life, Grant might, and we know would, receive thousands of votes; but as a Democratic candidate for President—Never!

The Democratic Returning Board in Maine stand, legally, precisely as did the Republican Returning Boards of Louisiana and Florida. Let's have fair count.

SKIMMEL, of New York, for President, and Blue Jeans Williams, of Indiana, for Vice President, will be the next Democratic ticket. We kinder like it in our bones.

What's the matter with the Pur chase? The State Legislature soon to assemble and only one candidate before either House! This exercise of good hard sense is unheard of in our history before.

The Eddyville Mirror asserts that Capt. Stone was elected out of the combination for Congress in this District at the last National Convention, and the District papers are pressing the Mirror to explain. Hear, hear!

EX-LICET-Gov. and C. Underwood's new paper, the Intelligencer, will make its appearance on the 22d. It will be assisted in the editorial department by Mr. Ingram, the Courier correspondent. The new paper ought to wield an extensive influence.

Two men Doctors agree. The U. S. Sanitary Convention, now in session at Nashville, agree on a plan for the sewerage, drainage and general sanitary work in cities and towns. The next thing is for the State Legislatures to make such work compulsory on every town under severe penalties.

On Friday morning last, at Newport, Ky. Miss Annie Hoff shot and killed Charles Scheurer. The latter, under a promise of marriage, had seduced her, and then refused to marry her. The verdict of the people where the shooting transpired is that it was all right, and on the examination trial she was discharged and a nolle prosequi entered as to her brother who accompanied her to the shooting.

Good, if True.
The news now comes that the Democratic leaders of New York are in contention to harmonize their local differences, and that everything looks favorable to its accomplishment. The understanding is to bury the past, and unite on Horatio Seymour for President.

A Fair Count.
The Democrats claim to have discovered great frauds in the recent Maine election, and it is given out that the Republican majority in the Legislature, as well as the Governor, will be turned to the Democrats and Greenbackers, if a fair count is had. The counting officers are Democrats and Greenbackers, and the announcement has produced great consternation among the Republicans.

Our Prescription.
In this hour all the Democrats are casting about for the cure of, and the remedy for, the late party defeats. We volunteer, free of charge, a prescription, which, if taken as directed, will place you on the sure road to victory. Throw overboard all the oratorical bluffs, brilliant jackasses and sectional tomfoolery now in the lead, and return to primitive Democracy and leaders. The people never did and never will go back on the pure, simple, economic form of government, as taught by the old Democracy as contrasted with the aristocratic centralized form now sought to be established.

In Cullen, who fired the building in New York last Friday, and caused the death of four persons, together with his wife, has been arrested. He will not get the $800 insurance money he so longed for.

AN INDEPENDENT RACE FOR CONGRESS.
Who the candidates, and what the issues.
The Mayfield Democrat is clamoring for some good organization Democrat to beat Col. Turner for Congress in this District next year, and several other District papers copy its paragraph indicating that their wish is the same.

The impression just now holds that there will be no nominee pitted against Col. Turner, but that the prize will be fought for, and to the hilt, by independent candidates. Colonel Turner, himself, no doubt, prefers this, for he has set the example, and now, in view of democratic precedent, he may not object if he is fought with his own weapons, on his own chosen battle ground.

Next year, being the presidential year, may not be favorable to independent candidates, but if it should be there are elements brewing "to make Rome howl" in this District, and we are charged with the District papers who have been following the questionable leadership of this or that aspirant, to mark the prediction.

The race for Congress in this District the past many years has been merely a personal scramble, but in the melee the party has been disgraced, its time honored principles belied, and its organization defeated. The nominees nor the independents have advocated anything beyond stereotyped political platitudes—meaning nothing and pledged to nothing. Not a one of them has ever advocated a practical or material proposition. True enough, Crawford, when a member, made a special study of the tariff, and sought to create an intelligent interest by his speeches, but "personalism" drowned it all. As a matter of truth the whole battle has been wild in their tenings to the vagaries of rag money, and therein have been false to the history of the Democratic party. The candidacy of Judge Trimble, the nominee, was a lie upon the sacred history of the party. We mean as to his financial views.

The long and short of it is, the party in this District should right itself. It should demand of candidates the advocacy of party principles, and not permit the party to be dragged into the advocacy of candidates' individualism. There is here a corrupt democratic leader—one who, while advocating pure democracy will deal with practical and material issues.

One who, while denouncing sectionalism in the Republican party, will honestly and sincerely practice and inculcate non-sectionalism anywhere and on any body.

One who, while boldly and firmly maintaining the principle of income tax, will cultivate a broad, liberal and sincere devotion to the union of the States.

One who will consistently proclaim the ancient and time honored democratic doctrine of hard money, and an honest, stable currency.

One who, while other portions of the country are bounding forward to prosperity, will align his policy with that broad liberalism that induces a teeming population to develop our resources and build up our material wealth.

One who, while the Government is assisting other communities by vast appropriations to rivers and harbors, will not sit idly by and permit the Great Father of Waters to be neglected, but will strike for the development of the great Mississippi Valley.

In a word, one who, when elected, will not be content simply to sit in Congress like a knot on a log, only bothering his brain with some far fetched "constitutional" chimera upon which to saw the air when he returns and to work a "sectional alarm" to secure his re-election; but will make the material as well as the political welfare of his constituents the object of his mission. Other communities, not so well blessed by the God of nature, are increasing in wealth, population, and all the elements of prosperity. Our people want and deserve prosperity as much as others. Why should we not get along from localism—reach out—and obtain it?

Peace and business, supplemented by an active, progressive spirit, is all the platform needs.

Too True.
The Trigg Democrat says: Bardard's mono metallic views on the currency question will kill him politically with the South and West as a presidential nominee. His opposition to the free coinage of silver has his fate as an available candidate. Apart from his pronounced views in this respect, he is the noblest Roman of all who have been named in connection with the presidency.

The chances are narrowing down to Bayard and Hancock—the first from former slave-holding States, and the latter a military hero—both patriotic and able citizens.

A CONTRAST.
The Eastern Way Carry.
As illustrative of the great weight the Democratic party is compelled to carry in national political contests, we print the expressions of two prominent men, given to the public on the same occasion. On the occasion of the Chicago Grant reception, the Daily News invited the Governors of various States and prominent Southern men to send in their congratulations on Gen. Grant's return, and received a number of such, including the following from Hon. Robert Toombs.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 12.—M. F. Stone, Editor: Your telegram received. I am declining to answer, excepting by presenting personal congratulations to Gen. Grant on his safe arrival in his country. He fought for his country naturally and not for a foreign master and lord. I am ready to try it over again. Death to the Union.
R. Toombs.

We have no doubt but that the dispatch is genuine, for it is just like the plain, blunt, blunt integrity Gen. Toombs would utter, and it no doubt conveys Gen. Toombs' honest sentiments and feelings; but we are more certain that it does not express the sentiment of any considerable number of Kentuckians, or of any respectable number of Southerners with whom we have ever come in contact since the war; but it will be received at the North as the sentiment of the Southern people, and Gen. Toombs is bound to know the interpretation that will be given to it, and therefore after it for the known purpose of perpetuating sectional feeling and animosity. Nine tenths of the people will pronounce it a "death to the Union," and a readiness to try the war over again, as the talk of a madman, and if called upon to vote upon the question as stated, would so vote. Just such talk is the great burden that hangs dead to the Democratic party, and must continue to do so until it is purged and relieved of every semblance of such sentiment. No one can or should attempt to control or prevent the expression of sentiments honestly uttered by Gen. Toombs or any other individual, but the Democratic party and the people of the South should, in some noticeable way, declare that such sentiment is only the sentiment of an individual and not of the people. If there are those who honestly entertain the sentiment expressed by Gen. Toombs, let them organize themselves into a party and openly and honestly advocate it.

On the same occasion, Gen. Grant, when the North held up as a type of Northern sentiment—had the policy, the principle, or the something, to declare the following sentiment:
"If we remain true to our principles, such a country is one to be proud of. I am proud of our position as an American citizen; every citizen, North, South, East and West, enjoys a common heritage and should feel an equal pride. We feel and maintain that the people who have fought bravely on the opposite side from us have equal claims in all the blessings of our great and common country; we claim for them the right to trade and travel in this broad land and select where they please the right to settle, become citizens and enjoy their religious and political convictions, free from molestation or persecution, either on account of their connection with the past. We ask nothing more for ourselves, and would rejoice to see them become powerful rivals in the development of our great resources in the acquisition of all that shall be desirable in this life, and in the patriotism and love of country. [Applause.]"

Contrasting the sentiment of Toombs with the sentiment of Grant, as uttered above, allowing each to be honest or each to be dishonest, which is best calculated to strengthen their respect for parties in the people's mind? Men like Gen. Toombs will invite defeat to their party, prejudice to their people and hate to their section, for the sole purpose of making themselves conspicuous. In all truth, the Democratic party has borne with the folly, madness and insolvency of such characters, until forbearance ceases to be a virtue.

The Hall Gate "improvement" at New York will require $2,615,078 to complete it. The work will cost altogether nearly $6,000,000. We call attention to the fact that this money is to be expended for one of New York's little improvements only. She proposes that the United States Treasury shall pay several millions more to build her a ship canal from the Hudson to the East River. While New York is getting these little local jobs performed at the expense of the Treasury, her leading citizens raise a outcry when any effort is made to get a sufficient appropriation for the improvement of the Mississippi river, which, although a recognized national highway, and a necessary channel for trade, has not had as much money expended on it as New York harbor. These facts are beginning to receive proper attention in the West and Southwest, and they should be reiterated.—[Courier Journal.]

The dispatches from Washington announce that an official of the Niagara government is on his way to this country with a proposition to Gen. Grant to take charge of the Niagara canal company as president thereof. He asserts if Grant will accept and try to work securing the protection, &c. of the Niagara government, the Rothschilds will subscribe one third of the stock necessary to build the canal.

He said that he was a Republican and that he was a supporter of Grant. He said that he was a supporter of Grant and that he was a supporter of Grant. He said that he was a supporter of Grant and that he was a supporter of Grant.

Interview with Alex. B. Stebbins.
Kind of Democrats that are for Grant.
The publication of the letter written by Representative Stebbins, of the Democratic party, after a frank interview with Alexander Stebbins in Grant movement among the Southern Democrats. The Southern papers who have been in Washington recently have expressed themselves in private much as Mr. Stebbins has expressed in public. In the interview Mr. Stebbins gives vent to precisely the same views as expressed by Stebbins, in the Star. Mr. Stebbins is quoted as follows:
Star.—And you think the solid South is dissolved?
Answer.—No, I do not but it will require good management to keep it solidly in the Democratic column next year. If there is patriotism enough in the New York Democracy to bring them together, to harmonize their differences and give us a united front, we promise success next year. The party leaders in the South can keep their followers in line. If, on the contrary, the dissensions in New York continue, then our only hope of success is destroyed, and the South will look out for herself.

Star.—How, by joining in the Grant movement?
Answer.—The South today prefers Grant as dictator to John Sherman or Roscoe Conkling as President. Among the Southern soldiers—those who fought the Southern cause—there is a great deal of respect and reverence for Gen. Grant; he is a soldier, a brave man, full of generosity, and a man of simple true character. We regard John Sherman and Conkling as mere politicians who would bring up a money bag and carry it off. There is nothing that could induce the people of the South to support either Sherman or Conkling.

Star.—But they would support Grant?
Answer.—To preference to any other man of the Republican party. There is a strong movement among the Democrats toward Grant, yes?
Answer.—No, but it is not coming. It will be postponed, it will come when they see that the people are not upon having a contract Government, a stronger government than they will move to its support, and be well satisfied with the result. The South is not a strong government than any other section. They are better adapted to living under that sort of government, I think, than the North. It should be mentioned that the rank and file of the Southern Democrats frequently renounce the policy of the Democrats in Congress and joined the Republicans during the late political contests. The more sagacious politicians in the light of these facts do not anticipate any serious denunciation of the rank and file of the Southern Democrats, saying that the party line is again drawn in Congress all thoughts of a stampede will be abandoned.

The idea of Democrats nominating Gen. Grant as their candidate for President is criminally stupid, but the great political leaders have so often traded and trafficked around in these matters that many of them will no doubt do anything and support anything to win. If such things should transpire, for decency's sake, and for the grand history of the Democratic party in the past, let them call it something else. Some Democrats might and do not doubt many would, support Gen. Grant in preference to certain other Republican leaders, but when they do so they ought to support him as a Republican and not attempt to disgrace the Democracy as a party, by such falsification.

He said that he was a supporter of Grant and that he was a supporter of Grant.

Some two or three hundred ex-convicts have settled in and around Frankfort, because the law does not give them money enough to take them home when their terms expire. Recently the Magistrates of that county met and passed the following resolution:
Resolved, by the body of the Magistrates of Franklin county now in session, that a Representative, Hon. L. Hord, be requested to procure at the approaching session of the Legislature the passage of a law equalizing this burden in some way, so that in the future Franklin county may not be compelled to support all the ex-convicts of the State.

New York in 1880.
No man can be elected President of the United States by the Democratic party in 1880 who cannot command the united support of the Democrats of New York; unless perhaps Governor Seymour, who for reasons satisfactory to himself neither will nor can accept another presidential candidacy, can command the united support of the Democrats of New York in 1880.—[New York World.]
